ORDERS RECESS IN 44-HR. TEST

Harrisburg, Jan. 19 (AP).—Defenders and foes of the 44-hour law, designed to shorten the working week of about 3,000,000 Pennsylvania workmen, called today for a "between rounds" conference to settle technicalities which halted a court hearing Tuesday.

The hearing to smooth the way for a Supreme test of the act which went into effect December 1, ended abruptly Tuesday, when Sterling McNeese, counsel for complaining industries, said he had gone "as far as possible at present," that he was not ready to start when the hearings began Monday, and had so informed state counsel.

After less than two days of testimony, the hearing ran into a snag after McNeese said he would put on the stand employees of Holgate Brothers, Inc., wood products company of Kane, Pa. They were to describe "satisfactory" conditions at the Kane works.

Edward Friedman, deputy attorney general, objected that such testimony, "not material."

McNeese suggested that the state begin its case in the meantime and Friedman refused.

At the suggestion of Judge W. C. Sheely, of Adams county, attorneys for both sides were asked to meet today with Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti, Ralph M. Bashore, state Secretary of Labor and Industry, and members of the court, to decide what procedure would be satisfactory to both sides.

McNeese said he would be ready to proceed with his case "within a week." An indefinite recess was declared.

The hearing struck the snag when company counsel called to the stand Richard Shinafelt, whom they described as a worker at the plant "who hasn't missed a day through illness in 29 years."

Gilbert Nurich, associate counsel for the Holgate firm, said they sought to describe through Shinafelt conditions in the plant without the 44-hour law.

"We object to this attempt to impose upon the court the views of this witness to set aside the wisdom of the legislature," protested Friedman. He won the point.

Previously John Young, a Warren, Pa., lumber dealer, testified he increased his prices because of the increased cost of the 44-hour law.

Jews Start Exodus From Rumanian Rule

Bucharest, Jan. 19 (AP).—Several thousand Rumanian Jews sought havens abroad today while 16 political parties launched campaigns for new elections that were expected not to affect the government's anti-semitic course.

King Carol's dissolution of parliament and orders for new elections March 3 gave Rumania a chance to approve or disapprove of the anti-Jewish, semi-Fascist policies of Premier Octavian Goga.

A coalition of other parties with identical anti-Jewish platforms was indicated, however, should Goga fail to rally parliamentary support. He controlled only nine per cent of votes in the dissolved parliament.

UNION DEFEATS WAGE PROPOSAL

Samuel Miller, 131 South Fourth street, said today that the members of the United Industrial Woodworkers' Local union, No. 464, an affiliate of the C.I.O., voted unanimously to refuse a proposal from the management of the local furniture companies to reduce wages by 10 per cent, the amount of a raise given voluntarily in two installments last year.

Miller who last month succeeded Charles McKendrick, president during the 23-day strike last fall, as head of the union, said that a secret ballot was taken on the question at a regular meeting of the union members Tuesday evening in the union hall on West High street.

On January 1, 1937, and again in the middle of the year, the workmen were given five per cent raises. The proposal from the management was that the increases be dropped in order to cut down operating costs. Miller said he did not know what the result of the negative vote by the union members would be.

Miller was confined to his home today with a bad cold and has not yet officially communicated the result of the vote to the management.

No statement was forthcoming today from company officials as to what course may be followed as a result of the refusal by the union, the bargaining agency for the factory workers, to give up the pay increase they received a year ago.

WIND HELPS PUT MERCURY DOWN TO 12 DEGREES

New low temperatures for 1938 were recorded here and at the Arendtsville weather station this morning although low readings reached in December still hold the record for the season.

Dr. Henry Stewart, local official weather observer, reported a temperature of 12 degrees this morning, six degrees below the minimum reading on Tuesday morning. By 10 o'clock this morning the mercury had climbed only three degrees and stood at 15 degrees above zero. A cold wind added to the discomfort of countians making the cold seem more penetrating.

At Arendtsville this morning the low temperature was 10 degrees above zero, only two degrees above the season's record of eight degrees which was set in December.

Ice skating has again become the favorite outdoor sport in this section. During the last week-end and nightly since that time hundreds of skaters have enjoyed the sport on nearby streams and ponds with a moon that was full on Sunday evening to light the ice.

POCONO COLDEST SECTION

(By The Associated Press) Pennsylvanians shivered and shook today in temperatures that ranged as low as 12 below zero in mountain sections.

Thermometers tumbled overnight to new lows for the winter in the face of blasts of frigid wind that froze up unprotected water pipes and automobile radiators and that carried the threat of new snow.

The Pocono mountains in the northeastern counties laid claim to being one of the state's coldest "ice boxes." Lackawanna railroad dispatchers at Scranton reported readings of 12 below in the Poconos at an early morning hour with the mercury still falling.

Delaware and Hudson railroad dispatchers at Scranton reported a reading of 21 below at Ninevah, New York, as the coldest along their lines. Scranton itself had an unofficial two above.

Other communities buttoned up their overcoats in temperatures equally as low.

Philadelphia's reading, slipped down to around 13 above in the center of the city, but unofficial near zero readings were common in the suburbs.

Pittsburgh's low Tuesday was 17 above, but forecasts were for a higher range today.

The northwestern Pennsylvania icebox at Kane was relieved with a rise of mercury to 10 above this morning. It dropped to 12 below at midnight. The Lewis Run station near Kane reported 14 below at midnight and zero at 8 a. m.

Other western Pennsylvania points reported sub-zero temperatures. It was two below at Stoneboro, Venango county, and six below at Dempseytown. Somerset reported 18 above and Pittsburgh, 25 above.

RELIEF IN PROSPECT

(By The Associated Press) Sub-zero cold hugged the eastern seaboard for the second consecutive day today, with a prospect of rising temperatures, as the northwest's blanket of frigid air crept over New England, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New York state.

Uptate New York apparently registered the lowest below-zero figures. In some spots it was 38 below.

Berlin, New Hampshire, examined with mittened hands a thermometer reading of 32 below.

New York city had the dubious satisfaction of experiencing a one-point improvement over Tuesday's low readings at mid-morning. From an early hour low of eight above, the temperature climbed to 11.

Warmer weather was in prospect, however.

The Portland, Maine, fishing schooner Richard J. Nunan, sought by coast guardsmen since Monday night in heavy vapor given off by the ocean, rode into the harbor at Cutler, Maine, under her own sail. Help had been asked when the boat's engine became disabled.

Satan's Kingdom, Connecticut, which bears its name in the winter, warmed up, relatively. It was only 22 below there.

STOCK REPORT

New York, Jan. 19 (AP).—A decline in rail shares raised a selling signal for other sectors of the stock market today and early gains for the most part were relinquished before midday. Dealings increased a little as traders took the action of the Erie reorganization move and expectations December reports of leading roads would reveal deep cuts in earning power were cited among influences behind the liquidation. Losses of fractions to more than two points were recorded in Santa Fe, New York Central, Southern Pacific and Chesapeake and Ohio. Norfolk and Western, relatively inactive, dropped eight in a thin market.

The first boys' apple judging team ever entered in competition at a state Farm show came off with second honors Tuesday in an apple judging and identification contest with youths from a number of other counties.

First place was won by a 4-H club team from Allegheny county and third place went to the Franklin county team.

The Adams county delegation, selected and trained under the direction of the Adams County Fruit Growers' association, included: Wilmer J. Stoner, Orrtanna; Alan H. Tyson, Gardners, and Arthur W. Kuntz, Gardners. The three alternates selected to represent the county in case members of the first team would not be able to serve also were present, but did not compete. They were Donald G. Wenk, Harold Rice and Ralph Rice, Jr., all of Biglerville.

While the three youths from Allegheny county carried off highest individual honors, Wilmer Stoner won fourth place; Arthur Kuntz, fifth and Alan Tyson, seventh.

Five of the six county youths on the two Adams county teams were guests Tuesday evening at the annual banquet of the State Horticultural society in Zombo Mosque when Adams County Farm Agent M. T. Hartman presided as toastmaster.

The prizes were presented to the winning team and medals given the boys with the highest individual scores during the evening.

Today the youthful judges were back in school—five of them at Biglerville high school and Stoner at Fairfield.

Stoner is a son of H. S. Stoner, Orrtanna, vice-president of the county fruitgrowers' association. Kuntz is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Parker Kuntz, Gardners, and Tyson is a son of Chester J. Tyson.

The honors won by the county youths add to the laurels taken by the county fruitmen's apple exhibit which won first prize of $100 at the farm show on Monday.

REMOVED TO PITTSBURGH

Pittsburgh officers came here Tuesday evening and removed John Sanders, Republic, Fayette county, from the county jail after local state motor police officers had agreed to his removal to Pittsburgh where he is wanted for larceny. UNION DEFEATS WAGE PROPOSAL

Samuel Miller, 131 South Fourth street, said today that the members of the United Industrial Woodworkers' Local union, No. 464, an affiliate of the C.I.O., voted unanimously to refuse a proposal from the management of the local furniture companies to reduce wages by 10 per cent, the amount of a raise given voluntarily in two installments last year.

Miller who last month succeeded Charles McKendrick, president during the 23-day strike last fall, as head of the union, said that a secret ballot was taken on the question at a regular meeting of the union members Tuesday evening in the union hall on West High street.

On January 1, 1937, and again in the middle of the year, the workmen were given five per cent raises. The proposal from the management was that the increases be dropped in order to cut down operating costs. Miller said he did not know what the result of the negative vote by the union members would be.

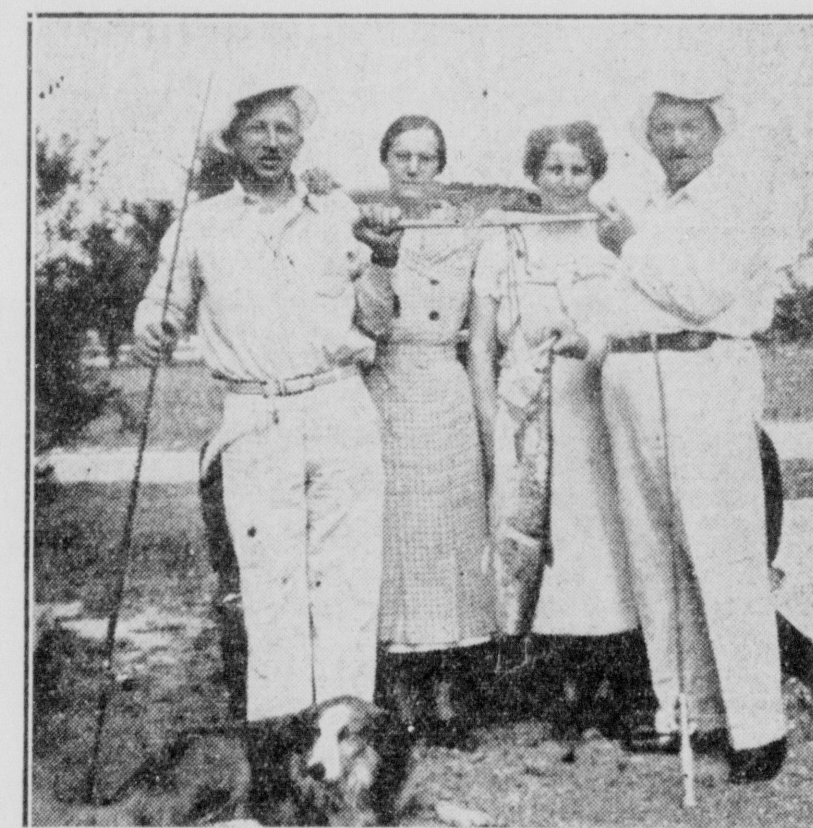

Miller was confined to his home today with a bad cold and has not yet officially communicated the result of the vote to the management. No statement was forthcoming today from company officials as to what course may be followed as a result of the refusal by the union, the bargaining agency for the factory workers, to give up the pay increase they received a year ago.

The present officers of the union are: President, Miller; vice president, Paul Fissel; recording secretary, William Goodmuth; financial secretary, Olin Wilkin, and treasurer, William O. Wilkin.

In default of $500 bail White was being held for a hearing before Justice Shealer this afternoon.

The driver is said to have been blocking traffic on the avenue with his car turned crosswise in the middle of the road. He is the first defendant to be charged with drunk driving in the borough this year.

Citizens of Gettysburg will be given a chance next Tuesday evening to express their opinions either for or against the proposal for the erection of parking meters in center square and on the four main streets for a distance of one block.

The meeting was called for 7:30 o'clock next Tuesday evening in the fire engine house, after Councilman Clyde Berger, head of the safety committee, and C. W. Epley, another member of the committee, met with Council President Ray M. Hoffman, Burgess C. A. Helges and Eugene V. Bullett, borough solicitor, Tuesday afternoon.

At that meeting the parking meters were discussed and it was decided to put the proposition before the people next week.

Details of the operation of the meters will be explained at the council meeting, Berger said. He declared that the meters would not cost the borough anything and that they would be self-liquidating.

The revenue that would be received from the meters would be put in the general fund of the council, it was explained.

WIND HELPS PUT MERCURY DOWN TO 12 DEGREES

New low temperatures for 1938 were recorded here and at the Arendtsville weather station this morning although low readings reached in December still hold the record for the season.

Dr. Henry Stewart, local official weather observer, reported a temperature of 12 degrees this morning, six degrees below the minimum reading on Tuesday morning. By 10 o'clock this morning the mercury had climbed only three degrees and stood at 15 degrees above zero. A cold wind added to the discomfort of countians making the cold seem more penetrating.

At Arendtsville this morning the low temperature was 10 degrees above zero, only two degrees above the season's record of eight degrees which was set in December.

Ice skating has again become favorite outdoor sport in this section. During the last week-end and nightly since that time hundreds of skaters have enjoyed the sport on nearby streams and ponds with a moon that was full on Sunday evening to light the ice.

Poconos Coldest Section

(By The Associated Press) Pennsylvanians shivered and shook today in temperatures that ranged as low as 12 below zero in mountain sections.

Thermometers tumbled overnight to new lows for the winter in the face of blasts of frigid wind that froze up unprotected water pipes and automobile radiators and that carried the threat of new snow.

The Pocono mountains in the northeastern counties laid claim to being one of the state's coldest "ice boxes." Lackawanna railroad dispatchers at Scranton reported readings of 12 below in the Poconos at an early morning hour with the mercury still falling.

Delaware and Hudson railroad dispatchers at Scranton reported a reading of 21 below at Ninevah, New York, as the coldest along their lines. Scranton itself had an unofficial 20 above.

Other communities buttoned up their overcoats in temperatures equally as low.

Philadelphia's reading slipped down to around 13 above in the center of the city, but unofficial near zero readings were common in the suburbs.

Pittsburgh's low Tuesday was 17 above, but forecasts were for a higher range today.

The northwestern Pennsylvania icebox at Kane was relieved with a rise of mercury to 10 above this morning. It dropped to 12 below at midnight. The Lewis Run station near Kane reported 14 below at midnight and zero at 8 a. m.

Other western Pennsylvania points reported sub-zero temperatures. It was two below at Stoneboro, Venango county, and six below at Dempseytown. Somerset reported 18 above and Pittsburgh, 25 above.

Relief in Prospect

(By The Associated Press) Sub-zero cold hugged the eastern seaboard for the second consecutive day today, with a prospect of rising temperatures, as the northwest's blanket of frigid air crept over New England, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New York state.

Update New York apparently registered the lowest below-zero figures. In some spots it was 38 below.

Berlin, New Hampshire, examined with mittened hands a thermometer reading of 32 below.

New York city had the dubious satisfaction of experiencing a one-point improvement over Tuesday's low readings at mid-morning. From an early hour low of eight above, the temperature climbed to 11.

Warmer weather was in prospect, however.

The Portland, Maine, fishing schooner Richard J. Nunan, sought by coast guardsmen since Monday night in heavy vapor given off by the ocean, rode into the harbor at Cutler, Maine, under her own sail. Help had been asked when the boat's engine became disabled.

Satan's Kingdom, Connecticut, which belies its name in the winter, warmed up, relatively. It was only 22 below there.

STOCK REPORT

New York, Jan. 19 (AP).—A decline in rail shares raised a selling signal for other sectors of the stock market today and early gains for the most part were relinquished before midday. Dealings increased a little as traders took the action of the carrier group for a bear cue. The Erie reorganization move and expectations December reports of leading roads would reveal deep cuts in earning power were cited among influences behind the liquidation. Losses of fractions to more than two points were recorded in Santa Fe, New York Central, Southern Pacific and Chesapeake and Ohio. Norfolk and Western, relatively inactive, dropped eight in a thin market.

17 DEAD AND 28 MISSING AFTER CANADIAN FIRE

St. Hyacinthe, Que., Jan. 19 (Canadian Press)—Forty-five teachers and pupils were reported dead or missing by Sacred Heart college authorities today after fire destroyed the college building Tuesday.

Seventeen were known dead and 28 were unaccounted for. In addition, 21 were injured, some of them seriously.

There was no indication exactly how many students and teachers perished when flames engulfed the four-story structure. Provincial police said some might have found shelter in farmhouses near the college.

Only two dead had been identified—Brother Jean Baptiste, of Sherbrooke, Quebec, and Joseph Vincent, a student of St. Hyacinthe.

Four other brothers were missing. Three missing students were from the United States: William O'Connell, Westport, Connecticut; Normand and Roger Poulin, brothers, Central Falls, Rhode Island.

School and fire authorities said they had been unable to determine the origin of the fire which broke out shortly after midnight. It ran rapidly through the building which housed 80 boarding students and 31 teaching brothers.

Only the walls of the $500,000 building remained.

U. S. to Rely on Citizens in Time of War, Says F. D. R.

Washington, Jan. 19 (AP).—President Roosevelt re-emphasized in a letter made public today America's reliance for military protection on "patriotic citizens called to the colors when our peace and safety are threatened."

The letter, dated January 17 and addressed to Rear-Admiral Reginald R. Belknap, commander-in-chief of the Military Order of the World War, by whom it was released, gave no indication that the President contemplates any increase in the Army such as he will recommend to congress soon for the Navy.

"The national defense act," the President wrote, "provides that our small regular Army shall be the professional nucleus for an expanded force necessary for our protection in a crisis."

Occasion for the letter was presidential endorsement of Army Day to be held next April 6.

Mr. Roosevelt said the American Army was one of the smallest in the world but he was "glad to note that its efficiency is steadily improving."

U. S. Asks Visit With Mrs. Rubens

Moscow, Jan. 19 (AP).—The United States embassy has asked Russian authorities for permission to visit Mrs. Marie Rubens, of New York city, in prison, a reliable source indicated today.

The embassy charge d'affaires went to the foreign office at noon, on instructions from the State Department in Washington, to ask an interview with the woman who presumably is in Lubranksa prison a block from the foreign office.

It was not ascertained whether the request was granted.

(Secretary of State Cordell Hull announced Tuesday the request was decided upon after the Soviet government informed the United States that Mrs. Rubens was under arrest in Moscow on suspicion of espionage.)

(A man and woman with passports under the names of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Robinson disappeared mysteriously in Moscow last month. Identification of a photograph subsequently established that the woman was Mrs. Rubens.)

18 Navy Bombers Set Mark In Mass Flight to Honolulu

Honolulu, Jan. 19 (AP).—Eighteen big Navy bombing planes from California snipped down through bright tropical moonlight into the glare of spotlights before dawn today and alighted on Pearl Harbor, completing the greatest mass flight in aviation history in record-breaking time. The first plane touched the water at 8:48 a. m. Eastern Standard Time, just 20 hours and 12 minutes after the "official take-off" time from San Diego, California.

The second plane, the blue flames of its exhaust flashing in the darkness, alighted two minutes later and the other craft followed in rapid succession.

The unofficial flight time bettered the previous naval mark of 21 hours, 25 minutes, set by a squadron of 12 planes in another "routine transfer" from San Diego nine months ago.

Only 100 spectators lined the smooth waters of Pearl Harbor's channel to watch the planes roar high over Honolulu, head straight for the harbor and come down quickly in orderly fashion behind Lieutenant Commander S. H. Warner.

Warner said the squadrons flew through unfavorable weather on the first third of the trip.

The planes climbed to 15,000 feet and edged more than a hundred miles south of the chartered course to escape a "bold front" of clouds, and 35-mile-an-hour headwinds. Ice formed on the planes, but not enough to cause trouble.

The rest of the "rip, the commander said, was "perfect."

The switch from the chartered course over the first of the route caused them to miss the U. S. S. Reid, first of the naval craft stationed along the route for emergencies, but the planes passed over the other three on schedule.

The bombers flew in two squadrons of nine each throughout the flight, always in sight of each other. "There was no trouble of any kind," Warner said.

The commander did not rest during the flight. He was admittedly tired but commented: "If I could get a shot of soup, I would be satisfied."

The other 126 men were relieved, and rested in flight.

Ground crews at this mid-Pacific naval base handled the planes with smooth, untruffled efficiency, regarding the whole thing as "routine" despite the fact that it was the longest non-stop trans-oceanic flight for this number of planes in history.

As rapidly as they landed the planes were drawn onto ramps. Many of the fliers jumped out and were reunited with waiting members of their families.

The bombers are first of 42 the Navy plans to fly here from the mainland this year.

Seven officers and men were aboard each of the planes.

French Sees Modern Farm Boy Outdoing Granddad: Tells Why

Harrisburg, Jan. 19 (AP).—Today's overall-clad farm boy will make a better farmer than his granddad—who did a wonderful job considering the materials and training he had, Pennsylvania's Secretary of Agriculture predicted today.

Stocky, Ruddy J. Hansell French sprawled back in a folding chair in the comparative quiet of the motor police booth at the 22nd annual state Farm show, to reflect on what Pennsylvania's men of the soil have accomplished, and what their youngsters will do.

"We older men didn't have the 4-H clubs, the Future Farmers of America, the Boy Scouts, the vocational training, the automobiles, the radio, the means of getting places, seeing things, learning things, that these youngsters have," French mused as crowds milled around him.

Boys and girls romped in and out, pounding canes on the concrete floor; bearded, black-hatted men of the "plain people" and their somberly-garbed womenfolk mingled with every class and degree of citizen, sedately inspecting the farm-machinery, livestock and produce.

"The farm boys nowadays learn how to produce better stock, better grain; they're taught how to market their products attractively; they learn about cooperative selling, cooperative buying," French went on.

In arenas nearby schoolboys and girls were parading their livestock and poultry in prize competition, and others were demonstrating their school training. French gave them much of the credit or making the show a "smash hit."

Youth had a big part in today's activities, and special interest centered on the start tonight of the state-wide rural one-act play tournament. The contestants are a cast from the Center-Moreland Methodist Episcopal church, from Wyoming county; the Ringtown dramatic group, Schuylkill county, and the Strawberry Ridge players, Montour county.

A "vocational night" program attracted approximately 5,000 persons to the main arena Tuesday night.

Only 690 passengers and crew members of 2,207 aboard the Titanic were saved.

U. S. Asks Visit With Mrs. Rubens

Moscow, Jan. 19 (AP)—The United States embassy has asked Russian authorities for permission to visit Mrs. Marie Rubens, of New York city, in prison, a reliable source indicated today.

The embassy charge d'affaires went to the foreign office at noon, on instructions from the State Department in Washington, to ask an interview with the woman who presumably is in Lubanka prison, a block from the foreign office.

It was not ascertained whether the request was granted.

(Secretary of State Cordell Hull announced Tuesday the request was decided upon after the Soviet government informed the United States that Mrs. Rubens was under arrest in Moscow on suspicion of espionage.)

(A man and woman with passports under the names of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Robinson disappeared mysteriously in Moscow last month. Identification of a photograph subsequently established that the woman was Mrs. Rubens.)

18 Navy Bombers Set Mark In Mass Flight to Honolulu

Honolulu, Jan. 19 (AP)—Eighteen big Navy bombing planes from California swooped down through bright tropical moonlight into the glare of spotlights before dawn today and alighted on Pearl Harbor, completing the greatest mass flight in aviation history in record-breaking time.

The first plane touched the water at 8:48 a. m., Eastern Standard Time, just 20 hours and 12 minutes after the "official take-off" time from San Diego, California.

The second plane, the blue flames of its exhaust flashing in the darkness, alighted two minutes later and the other craft followed in rapid succession.

The unofficial flight time bettered the previous naval mark of 21 hours, 25 minutes, set by a squadron of 12 planes in another "routine transfer" from San Diego nine months ago.

Only 100 spectators lined the smooth waters of Pearl Harbor's channel to watch the planes roar high over Honolulu, head straight for the harbor and come down quickly in orderly fashion behind Lieutenant Commander S. H. Warner.

Warner said the squadrons flew through unfavorable weather on the first third of the trip.

The planes climbed to 15,000 feet and edged more than a hundred miles south of the chartered course to escape a "bold front" of clouds, rain and 35-mile-an-hour headwinds. Ice formed on the planes, but not enough to cause trouble.

The rest of the trip, the commander said, was "perfect."

The switch from the chartered course over the first of the route caused them to miss the U. S. S. Reid, first of the naval craft stationed along the route for emergencies, but the planes passed over the other three on schedule.

The bombers flew in two squadrons of nine each throughout the flight, always in sight of each other.

"There was no trouble of any kind," Warner said.

The commander did not rest during the flight. He was admittedly tired but commented:

"If I could get a shot of soup, I would be satisfied."

The other 126 men were relieved, and rested in flight.

Ground crews at this mid-Pacific naval base handled the planes with smooth untroubled efficiency, regarding the whole thing as "routine" despite the fact that it was the longest non-stop trans-oceanic flight in this number of planes in history.

As rapidly as they landed the planes were drawn onto ramps. Many of the fliers jumped out and were reunited with waiting members of their families.

The bombers are first of 42 the Navy plans to fly here from the mainland this year.

Seven officers and men were aboard each of the planes.

French Sees Modern Farm Boy Outdoing Granddad: Tells Why

Harrisburg, Jan. 19 (AP)—Today's overall-clad farm boy will make a better farmer than his granddad—who did a wonderful job considering the materials and training he had, Pennsylvania's Secretary of Agriculture predicted today.

Stocky, Ruddy J. Hansell French sprawled back in a folding chair in the comparative quiet of the motor police booth at the 22nd annual state Farm show to reflect on what Pennsylvania's men of the soil have accomplished, and what their youngsters will do.

"We older men didn't have the 4-H clubs, the Future Farmers of America, the Boy Scouts, the vocational training, the automobiles, the radio, the means of getting things, that these youngsters have," French mused as crowds milled around him.

Boys and girls romped in and out, pounding canes on the concrete floor; bearded, black-hatted men of the "plain people" and their somberly-garbed womenfolk mingled with every class and degree of citizen, sedately inspecting the farm machinery, livestock and produce.

"The farm boys nowadays learn how to produce better stock, better grain; they're taught how to market their products attractively; they learn about cooperative selling, cooperative buying," French went on.

In arenas nearby schoolboys and girls were parading their lives, and others were demonstrating their school training. French gave them much of the credit or making the show a "smash hit."

Youth had a big part in today's activities, and special interest centered on the start tonight of the state-wide rural one-act play tournament. The contestants are a cast from the Center-Moreland Methodist Episcopal church, from Wyoming county; the Ringtown dramatic group, Schuylkill county and the Strawberry Ridge players, Montour county.

A "vocational night" program attracted approximately 5,000 persons to the main arena Tuesday night.

Only 699 passengers and crew members of 2,207 aboard the Titanic were saved.

WAYNESBORO HI FALLS BEFORE MAROON QUINT

Gettysburg high school's basketball team snapped a two-game losing streak at the expense of Waynesboro high, here, Tuesday evening, 26-21, in a non-conference game. The Maroons reserves won the preliminary game, 22-14.

Coach "Rip" Engle's team drew first blood on a goal by Carson and foul shots by Verdier and Carson. Hartman looped a goal for the Maroons, while Verdier sent the tornado lead rocketing with a goal. Hartman sunk a pretty one-handed stab and Everhart added a foul for Gettysburg. The Maroons went out into the lead and led 9-6 at the end of the first period.

The Maroons outclassed their opponents in the second period and held them scoreless from the field. Meanwhile Hartman and Wright landed goals to give Gettysburg a 15-9 advantage at half time.

A fast passing attack in the third period which baffled the invaders enabled the Forneyers to sew up the game. Oyer landed a pair of goals while Hartman, Wright and Everhart each counted once from the field to put the locals out in front at 26-15 at the close of the third period.

Waynesboro, making use of the absence of Hartman and Swope, who were banished due to fouls, crept up in the closing minutes of play by converting their foul shots. However, the Maroons safely protected their lead in the last minutes of action.

R. Hartman was Gettysburg's offensive star with 11 points, several of his goals being sensational one-handed stabs. Verdier was outstanding for Waynesboro. A tight Maroon defense yielded but four goals to the Tornado.

The Waynesboro reserves won a wildly fought game from the Maroons reserves in the preliminary game, 22-14. After playing to an 8-8 tie in the first period Waynesboro took a commanding lead in the second quarter which it never lost.

On Friday evening the Maroons will play a league game at Chambersburg.

ALEXANDER IS SELECTED FOR HALL OF FAME

New York, Jan. 19 (AP).—Baseball's solemnly elected immortals shoved over on their pedestals today and welcomed their newest member, one of the best loved of them all, Grover Cleveland Alexander.

"Old Pete," the great pitcher, who stood big league batters on their heads for 20 years, joins the select little group enshrined in the hall of fame at Cooperstown, New York, by a flattering vote of the baseball writers' association of America.

Of 117 players of the past who received at least one vote in this year's poll, Alex was the only one to be named on the necessary 75 per cent of the ballots. Needing 197 votes for election, he received 212.

Three other bygone stars fell just short: George Sisler with 179; Wes Willie Keeler, 177, and Eddie Collins, 175. One, possibly two of them, should make the grade next year.

Others who trailed Alexander included Rube Waddell, 148; Frank Chance, 133; Ed Delahanty, 132; Ed Walsh, 110, and Johnny Evers, 91.

Those whom Alexander joins in baseball's temple are Ty Cobb, Babe Ruth, Honus Wagner, Christy Mathewson, Walter Johnson, Napoleon Lajoie, Tris Speaker and Cy Young.

Major league club owners in joint session recently added two great managers, Connie Mack and John McGraw; the first National league president, Morgan Bulkeley; the organizer of the American league, Ban Johnson; and George Wright, pioneer player and manager.

Had Sharp Curve

Alex, like many another old-timer, has had tough sledding since his major league epilogue with the Phillies in 1930. He finally left organized baseball at the age of 43, and since then has been about the country with the House of David and other semi-pro outfits. He manages his own club now at Springfield, Illinois.

But he was a wonder while he had it for 20 years after he joined the Phillies as a big, freckle-faced kid in 1911. He never had tremendous speed, but relied on a sharp curve and unerring control. Almost always he kept the ball low, around the knees.

Alex never pitched a no-hitter, but that was about the only thing he missed. He turned in four one-hitters in 1915, a record which probably never will be equalled. He won 28 games in his first big league season, another modern record, and for three straight years, starting in 1915, he won 30 or more victories, a mark equalled only by Mathewson. Six times he led the National league in games won and lost, and five times he had the lowest earned run average.

In 1916 he pitched 16 shutouts. With all his tremendous pitching feats, though, Alex always will be best remembered for a single, vital strikeout in the 1926 World series, in the twilight of his career.

Helped Cards Win Series

The St. Louis Cardinals, to whom Alex had transferred that season, were locked with the Yankees in the seventh and deciding game of the big series at Yankee stadium. The Cards held a 3-2 lead going into the last of the seventh, when the Yanks filled the sacks with two out and Tony Lazzeri, a dangerous clubber, at bat.

Things were tense. Manager Rogers Hornsby called time out to confer with his pitcher, Jess Haines. Old Alex, who had pitched brilliantly to win the previous day, and then had celebrated well into the night, was snoring blissfully in the bullpen. Hornsby beckoned him in, a last desperate effort to stave off the Yanks.

Alex roused himself, cocked his cap over one eye, and trudged slowly in through the mist as the crowd, at first unbelieving, rose to shout his name. Then, after a brief warm-up, he struck out Lazzeri on three pitched balls. Wearily he toiled two more innings to clinch the game and the series, and then he went back to sleep.

Drivers in Serious Crashes To Be Tested

Harrisburg, Jan. 19 (AP).—Pennsylvania, campaigning against traffic fatalities, brought forth a new penalty today for motorists involved in serious accidents—tests to prove their ability to operate an automobile.

Governor George H. Earle announced Tuesday night that the tests would be inaugurated March 1 for all drivers found guilty in serious accidents.

"In spite of our best efforts there are many drivers on the road today who are either inadequately trained or not fully conscious of their great responsibility," the Governor said.

The Governor previously announced that drivers convicted of exceeding the 50-mile-an-hour limit would lose their operating privileges for 90 days.

U. S. OWNERSHIP OF MINES ASKED BY GOV. EARLE

Harrisburg, Jan. 19 (AP).—Governor Earle's statistics on the industry prompted President Roosevelt to say Tuesday night in Washington that they were "the most amazing figures" he ever had seen. The President said Earle's charges of "monopolistic practices" aimed at the operators and the railroads were "being studied."

The governor was reluctant to estimate the value of Pennsylvania's coal lands. But Luzerne county—one of the larger producers—values its anthracite holdings at $115,521,303 for county assessment purposes. This is considered 60 per cent of the true value.

The entire industry in the state has been unofficially valued at a billion dollars.

The Governor said that if Congress pushed Federal regulation it would "remove the only reason I know of now for a special session" of the Legislature.

FREE LANCE MINERS GUILTY

Sunbury, Pa., Jan. 19 (AP).—Twenty-six free lance miners were under sentence today to serve 48 hours in prison on a charge of violating an injunction restraining them from entering their diggings on company-owned land. "Just because you are out of work you have no right to go on the property of another," Judge C. K. Morganroth said Tuesday. All had pleaded guilty. "You have no right to enter a store, a bank, or another man's land."

STUDIES IN GOVERNMENT

Allentown, Pa., Jan. 19 (AP).—Muhlenberg college trustees Tuesday made studies in the fundamentals of government and economics, a prerequisite for graduation. The new requirement is effective at the opening of the next school year.

FINED IN HANOVER

Joseph Groff, McSherrytown, was fined $1 by Burgess Harry B. Slagle, of Hanover, Monday evening on a charge of violating the parking ordinance.

Between 1906 and 1912 the United States government helped 13,000 laborers to emigrate from Spain, Portugal and Russia to Hawaii because of a labor shortage there.

Other committees were plodding along with their work despite the tie-up in the Senate. The House ways and means committee continued hearings on a tax revision bill. A special Senate committee resumed its inquiry into unemployment and the business recession.

A senate judiciary sub-committee will hold a hearing Thursday on the Supreme Court nomination of Solicitor General Stanley Reed. Chairman Logan (D-Ky) said no one had asked to testify, so he had requested Attorney General Cummings to appear. Approval of the nomination was forecast.

Paul Robeson, Negro actor, was graduated from Rutgers college with highest honors in addition to being a five-letter man and All-American end.

WAYNESBORO HI FALLS BEFORE MAROON QUINT

Gettysburg high school's basketball team snapped a two-game losing streak at the expense of Waynesboro high, here, Tuesday evening, 26-21, in a non-conference game. The Maroons reserves won the preliminary game, 22-14.

Coach "Rip" Engle's team drew first blood on a goal by Carson and foul shots by Verdier and Carson. Hartman looped a goal for the Maroons, while Verdier sent the Tornado lead rocketing with a goal. Hartman sunk a pretty one-handed stab and Everhart added a foul for Gettysburg. The Maroons went out into the lead and led 9-6 at the end of the first period.

The Maroons outclassed their opponents in the second period and held them scoreless from the field. Meanwhile Hartman and Wright landed goals to give Gettysburg a 15-9 advantage at half time.

A fast passing attack in the third period which baffled the invaders enabled the Forneyemen to sew up the game. Oiler landed a pair of goals while Hartman, Wright and Everhart each counted once from the field to put the locals out in front at 26-15 at the close of the third period.

Waynesboro, making use of the absence of Hartman and Swope, who were banished due to fouls, crept up in the closing minutes of play by converting their foul shots. However, the Maroons safely protected their lead in the last minutes of action.

R. Hartman was Gettysburg's offensive star with 11 points, several of his goals being sensational one-handed stabs. Verdier was outstanding for Waynesboro. A tight Maroon defense yielded but four goals to the Tornado.

The Waynesboro reserves won a wildly fought game from the Maroons reserves in the preliminary game, 22-14. After playing to an 8-8 tie in the first period Waynesboro took a commanding lead in the second quarter which it never lost.

On Friday evening the Maroons will play a league game at Chambersburg.

An Evening Thought Hope is an amusement rather than a good, and adapted to none but very tranquil minds.—Dr. Johnson.

Out of the Past Happenings of days gone by as chronicled in The Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg
Times the files reveal.

Twenty-five Years Ago
Measles Report Says 168 Cases—
With one hundred and sixty-eight cases of measles reported to the local Board of Health, and with more than forty per cent of the children of town kept out of school by the disease, Gettysburg is confronted with its most widespread epidemic since accurate figures on health statistics have been kept.

Reaver—Martz — Miss Annie
Martz and Roy M. Reaver were married at Mt. Joy parsonage at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon by Rev.
E. Stockslager.

Young Couple Keep Secret.—Announcement was made on Monday
of the marriage on April 6th, 1912,
of Miss Elsie May Horner, daughter of Mrs. Virginia Horner, of Steinwehr avenue, and Thomas N.
Cashman, a son of Mr. and Mrs. E.
W. Cashman, of York Springs.

The marriage took place in Wilmington, Delaware, and was performed by Dr. George Edward Reed, formerly president of Dickinson college, Carlisle, and now pastor in one of the prominent Methodist churches of Wilmington.

The news of the wedding was kept
a profound secret.
Mr. Cashman attended college at Gettysburg for several years and later was a student at Dickinson college, Carlisle.

Mr. and Mrs. Cashman will go to housekeeping about a mile and a half from York Springs in April.
They will reside on the farm which
Mr. Cashman purchased from his grandfather, Thomas G. Neely.

Weaver—Orndorff.—Edward
Weaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Weaver, of near Littlestown, and Miss Helen Orndorff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Orndorff, of Bonneauville, were married at a nuptial mass in St. Joseph's Catholic church, Bonneauville, Tuesday morning by Fr. McElhenny.

New Proprietor.—John Mumper has returned with his family to Gettysburg from Everett after an absence of fifteen years to take charge of the photograph gallery on Baltimore street which he has purchased from his brother, Clyde Mumper. The latter will remain with him and assist in conducting the business. John Mumper has been proprietor of a similar establishment in Everett since 1905.

Weidner—Frost.—A Raymond Weidner and Miss Nerve Frost, both of Idaho, were married at the United Brethren parsonage by Rev. F. Charles Gardner.

Fr. Dougherty Is Transferred.—
As a result of a concensus held in Harrisburg, the Rt. Rev. Bishop Shanahan has chosen and appointed Rev. Father Dougherty, of this place, to the irremovable re-ctorship of St. Mary's church Lancaster.

Father Reardon assistant to Father Dougherty is transferred to Hanover and Rev. William Boyle, of Harrisburg will become pastor here. He is a gentleman well fitted to take up the work here and will in a short time be esteemed by the people of the town in general.

Rev. Fr. Dougherty will leave for Lancaster on Monday.

Plank to Train College Team—
The services of Ira Plank have been secured for the baseball season and Eddie Plank will assist in the work for the first few weeks.

Unfortunate Trip.—The Gettysburg bowling team went down to defeat on the alleys at Hanover on Tuesday evening by a margin of 42 pins before the team they had defeated some days before on the Monarch alleys. Returning home from Hanover they were held up at
Two Taverns when the front axle broke. Finally the wagon was repaired sufficiently to allow it to proceed at a snail's pace. Part of the crowd rode and the remainder hiked it the five miles into town.
Four o'clock saw the bunch straggling up Baltimore hill. Those who rode were J. Allen Holtzworth, Eddie Plank, Ira Plank, John W.

Breun and J. C. Daley. The hikers were C. H. Wilson, A. M. Comers, Samuel Hartzell, B. W. Hum-mer, Henry Kabbelsch, William Dubbs, Allen Dubbs.

Personal.—Miss Harriet Bailey and Miss Hamilton have returned to Baltimore after a visit of several days at the home of Miss Annie Major.

Mrs. Julius F. Seebach has been chosen as editor of the children's department of "Lutheran Woman's Work."

Mrs. William D. Armor and Mrs.
Harry Sheads left this morning on a short trip to Baltimore.

Mrs. Theodore Lang and Miss Lang have returned from Washington where they spent the past few weeks.

Miss Clara Bailey, of North Washington street, is spending several days with friends at Pine Grove and at Harrisburg.

William Aughinbaugh is spending several days at his home on York street.

Roy E. Zinn has sold out his store on Carlisle street to Irvin Reynolds who took possession Wednesday morning.

WILLY NILLY fed the animals
on the following day and some of them had gone down their runways to the

yards that had been built for them, for it was lovely in the sunshine and the fresh, crisp
air.

He had been able to make them understand him pretty well, but he knew he still had to brush up a great deal on his wild animal accent for while they were pleased that he knew animal talk it was hard, at times, for them to understand him.
And that was only natural.

He had been so used to talking the animal language of ducks and a dog and a lamb and a crow and a rooster
and his black bears.

"Willy Nilly," said Top Notch,
"I'd like to call on the giraffe. He's the oddest looking of all to me."
"Hush," said Willy Nilly. "You
must speak carefully and quietly.
He is no more odd to himself than you are to yourself. He probably thinks that a rooster is a strange looking creature."

"How can he?" asked Top Notch,
and drew forth his little mirror
from under his wing and looked at himself admiringly.

"I have a handsome red crown
I have beautiful white feathers. I am not too tall and I am not too small. I wouldn't want to be a little bird."

"And a little bird might not want to be you! A little bird likes to get into a nest or fly from one branch of a tree to another. You must be a broad-minded rooster!"
Willy Nilly urged. "Besides it would be very odd if everyone were like I have something more to say to you."

Today's Talk

By George Matthew Adams

POISE AND TRIUMPH

A MAN who keeps his head in an emergency, or who keeps it unbowed under fire, cannot help but feel waves of triumph surging through his entire being, the moment that recognition and appreciation come his way.

Poise is the result of the cultivation of wise beliefs—not borrowed beliefs, but those that have come to one through observation and conviction. Personal triumph, over oneself, has a note of heroism to it that no outward triumph is able to give.

The brave man is usually calm and well poised. We can easily ignore the blustering and bombast of the wordy person—but he who sits calmly and thinks, who feels a sense of pride within his heart, he is the one to whom you should tie your faith and trust.

The really great man is unperturbed in defeat and modest in victory. Poise goes with his triumph. Spiritual veins carry rich blood into every fibre of his being. He is a God man, dealing in the affairs of human need and hope—forever planning toward "endless good."

No wonder that we are inspired when we come in contact with such a human being. No wonder he is poised. No wonder that he triumphs against all adversity.

I find a great deal of joy in studying life and the sayings of Michael de Montaigne. He wrote that fine examples of character about him were very rare, so he studied the bad examples and tried to greatly improve upon them! He wrote about his most intimate thoughts—and then said that he sent his friends to the bookseller to search them out, rather than tell them to his intimates. He had poise—and he triumphed by revealing the best that he felt in what he wrote.

Perhaps that is why these talks are written. As one human being to another. How calm and happy we feel, at any rate—with a friend—seen or unseen!

EMPIRE FOR A LADY

By ALAN LEMAY

Synopsis: A boil-up of savage Dyak tribes make the tropical waters of Balinging bay an unhealthy spot. Our trading vessel, the Lunkang, is strongly fortified, but the Forresters, Avon is defenseless. It is a strange place to find an English girl of 20, and my uncle, James Clyde, is trying to persuade Christine, and her brother Robert, to leave. But they insist on remaining to "trade for pearls."

"Captain Clyde," he said, "I am certain that I must misunderstand your meaning."

"I am certain that you do not. I mean that you're running guns to the natives. You're an amateur, and don't know your business, nor the first thing about it; but that's what you're doing. If one of your own British war vessels would find you here, you'd be in the soup!"

Young Forrester's face was suddenly mottled with pale spots under the tan. It isn't good for a man's system to let his anger freeze that way, in the tropics.

"Captain Clyde," he inquired stiffly, "do I understand that you take me for a scoundrel?"

It sounded so silly that Clyde softened. "I'm only trying to tell you that you are in danger."

"I certainly cannot imagine my father giving weight to a consideration such as that."

"And I can't recall that your father ever brought your sister to a place like this," Clyde said. "Except for her I wouldn't bother to argue with you. There will always be people who can't see their own danger, and some of them will always be able to get hold of boats. But when you tow your sister into this, you—"

Cool and serene
"Captain Clyde," Christine Forrester said, "I can't be 'towed.' I came because I wanted to come."

My uncle checked. For a moment he met the straight eyes of the girl. His gaze seemed to fumble. He glanced again at Robert Forrester, and at the sailing master, Marvin Stocker. Then he swung directly to face the girl. Perhaps he would have got farther, I thought, if he had done that in the first place.

"Look, Miss Forrester. Can't you see the position that I'm in? I can neither leave nor stay."

She said, "Why not? It isn't of the slightest importance to us what you do."

She looked cool and serene. Her delicately incised features were very young. And no one could have been more completely feminine. She was wearing white Indo-Chinese silk, loose and airy, cut low off both shoulders, and her skin was the color of cream. This in itself made her a marvel to men who had seen nothing but the bronze-fleshed island women for so long. I would not have supposed that I could have forgotten what women were like in my own part of the world, until I found myself staring at Christine Forrester. Then, more than ever, the shaded afterdeck of the Avon seemed a chip off another planet.

Yet there was something else about that girl which I had sensed from the first but had not been able to place. I placed it now. Cool and serene, though she might be, Christine Forrester was sailing a charted course. As yet I didn't have the faintest idea what this course was; but I was beginning to see that she knew it and knew it well. You can sense that sort of a thing in the wing of a ship's wheel—or in a woman's eyes.

GERMAN TEXTILES MUST BE 10% ARIAN
BERLIN (AP)—The German economic ministry, declaring a new German culture in dressing, has declared Jews unfit to collaborate with Aryan tailors, dress-makers and designers.

A decree was issued by the ministry forbidding Jews to open new window or retail textile shops in Berlin since the end of the Reich's textile industry. The ban applies to Arians until the end of 1938, when new shops may be opened by them.

The decree, however, emphasizes that applications by Jews will be rejected on principle.

NEW PROBLEMS DISCOVERED IN RELIEF SETUP

Harrisburg, Jan. 17 (AP).—New problems presented themselves to agencies handling relief under Pennsylvania's new set-up today while a legal test of the 1937 relief law progresses through the courts.

Worry over how the system of dividing responsibility between the county commissioners and the county board of assistance would work, was expressed by Judge Richard W. Tobst, of Lehigh county.

"I'm very much concerned as to how this new set-up will work out," he commented in instructing the grand jury to make a "thorough inspection" of the county home.

"The poor board had the relief proposition very, very well in hand. How that will work out with this state agency I hesitate to predict."

The jury later found a "dire need" for additional employees at the home.

Assumption of the abolished poor board's debts caused financial worries for the Fayette county commissioners. Commissioner John W. Rankin said they were "stunned" to receive the board's bills for $20,000 for December operating expenses of the home and to learn that $51,000 the board borrowed from the county in 1928 never was repaid, and that the home owed $12,000 to other county institutions.

"It looks like we're going to have to go into debt to get things straightened out before we can institute a smooth-working program," Rankin said.

Refusal of a bank in Lackawanna county to cash checks made out by the Blakely poor district — one of those attacking the act which abolished poor boards—and presented for payment after January 1, raised the question whether the board's funds became the county's.

The Lackawanna commissioners also studied questions raised in connection with administration of medical care.

In Berks county, efforts were made to speed payment of rents by the state to prevent evictions.

NOVELIST GIVES CAT ITS SECOND LIFE
Washington (AP)—Mrs. Janet Dietrick, novelist, grabbed a mid-night train from New York and sat up all the way to Washington after hearing her pet cat Sonny was going to die.

Sonny had been given up by two veterinarians but Mrs. Dietrick rolled up her sleeves, operated at 6:00 A. M. and saved the cat's life.

Mrs. Dietrick has written about cats in novels and stories. Now she says "I'm thinking of entering the veterinary college and becoming the first cat specialist in the profession."

AFTER A BRIDGE GAME
Time was I heard my father say:
"At cards with strangers never play!
Of men on ships and trains beware!
They'll strip your precious wallet bare."

So sage his counsel then appeared,
To that advice I've long adhered,
But who'd have thought I'd see the day
It isn't safe with friends to play?

Last night almost against my will
The table I agreed to fill.
I made a bid, our rivals set,
The lady hates me for it, yet!

I raised her one heart bid to "four."
She doesn't like me any more.
I trumped the act of spades she led.
If speech could kill, I'd now be dead.

Into a fearful rage she flew,
Because I passed her bid of "two."
I'm sure, because a trick I missed,
She dropped us off her calling list.

And so, my son, I say to you,
Beware of bridge your whole life through:
Strangers may take what's in your purse,
But friends will treat you even worse.

SAD PICTURE
He painted on a canvas square
The agony of pain,
And left that look of torture there
Forever to remain.

There is the fever flush, and there
The drawn and yellowed skin,
There hands are symbols of despair,
So white they are and thin.

"A masterpiece!" the critics say.
"A work of wondrous skill!"
"Fit art to paint in such a way
A child so very ill."

And yet immortalizing pain
Seems such a sorry thing.
I should have waited till again
Those cheeks were blossoming.

Though suffering is of life a part,
For just a little while
I should have waited till my art
Could paint her lovely smile.

Businessmen say: IT'S GOOD BUSINESS TO BORROW!

Reckless borrowing has no place in business, but when an intelligently managed business with good credit borrows funds for legitimate purposes and sound expansion, there is a definite benefit not only to the borrower but to the entire community as well. That's when businessmen say, "It's good business to borrow."

And under those conditions, it's good business to make loans. This bank has funds which is desirous to put to work locally for the benefit of the community. Level headed businessmen are invited to discuss with us their loan requirements. They can count upon our co-operation in extending credit for the development of business in this territory.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO—
Measles Report Says 168 Cases—
With one hundred and sixty-
eight cases of measles reported to

fronted with its most widespread epidemic since accurate figures on

Reaver—Martz. — Miss Annie
Martz and Roy M. Reaver were married at Mt. Joy parsonage at 4

of the marriage on April 6th, 1912,
of Miss Elsie May Horner, daughter of Mrs. Virginia Horner, of

Cashman, a son of Mr. and Mrs. E.
W. Cashman, of York Springs.

The marriage took place in Willington, Delaware, and was performed by Dr. George Edward Reed, formerly president of Dickinson college, Carlisle, and now pastor in one of the prominent Methodist churches of Wilmington.
The news of the wedding was kept profound secret.

Mr. Cashman attended college at Gettysburg for several years and after was a student at Dickinson college, Carlisle.

Mr. and Mrs. Cashman will go to housekeeping about a mile and a half from York Springs in April.
They will reside on the farm which
Mr. Cashman purchased from his grandfather, Thomas G. Neely.

Unfortunate Trip.—The Gettys-

on Tuesday evening by a margin of 42 pins before the team they had defeated some days before on the donorah alleys. Returning home from Hanover they were held up at
two Taverns when the front axle broke. Finally the wagon was repaired sufficiently to allow it to proceed at a snail's pace. Part of the crowd rode and the remainder walked the five miles into town.
Four o'clock saw the bunch straggling up Baltimore hill. Those who ode were J. Allen Holtzworth, Ed-

VISITING

WILLY NILLY fed the animals
on the following day and some of them had gone down their runways to the

yards that had been built for
them, for it was lovely in the sunshine and they enjoyed the fresh, crisp
air.

He had been able to make them understand him pretty well, but he knew
he still had to brush up a great deal on his wild animal accent for
while they were pleased that he knew animal talk it was hard, at
times, for them to understand him.
And that was only natural. He had been so used to talking the animal language of ducks and a dog
and a lamb and a crow and a rooster
and his black bears.

"Willy Nilly," said Top Notch,
"I'd like to call on the gruffe. He's the oddest looking of all to me."

"Hush," said Willy Nilly. "You
must speak carefully and quietly.
He is no more odd to himself than
you are to yourself. He probably thinks that a rooster is a strange
looking creature."

"How can he?" asked Top Notch,
and drew forth his little mirror
from under his wing and looked at himself admiringly.

"I have a handsome red crown.
I have beautiful white feathers. I am not too tall and I am not too small. I wouldn't want to be a little bird."

"And a little bird might not want to be you! A little bird likes
to get into a nest or fly from one branch of a tree to another. You must be a broad-minded rooster!"
Willy Nilly urged. "Besides, it would be very dull if everyone were alike. I have something more to say to you."

ALCATRAZ SNICKERS
OVER DIG AT LAWYERS

San Francisco (AP)—A prisoner has managed to get a wisecrack out to the world at large despite the iron-clad censorship at Alcatraz prison.

Taking a correspondence course in Spanish, he was assigned to translate: "When a lawyer is good he works hard."

The convict did so and then added
—also in Spanish:
"But when a lawyer is bad his client works hard."

Leftover stuffing is tastier if you reheat it and serve it with gravy or sauce. Another good way to utilize it is to moisten it with milk or gravy, press it into a loaf pan or individual molds and bake it fifteen minutes. If molds are used, arrange the unmolded cakes to outline a platter of cold sliced fowl or meat. Serve a gravy or creamy sauce with it.

Today's Talk

By George Matthew Adams

POISE AND TRIUMPH

A MAN who keeps his head in an emergency, or who keeps it unbowed under fire, cannot help but feel waves of triumph surging through his entire being, the moment that recognition and appreciation come his way.

Poise is the result of the cultivation of wise beliefs—not borrowed beliefs, but those that have come to one through observation and conviction.
Personal triumph over oneself, has a note of heroism to it that no outward triumph is able to give.

The brave man is usually calm and well poised. We can easily ignore the blustering and bombast of the wordy person—but he who sits calmly and thinks, who feels a sense of pride within his heart, he is the one to whom you should tie your faith and trust.

The really great man is unperturbed in defeat and modest in victory.
Poise goes with his triumph. Spiritual veins carry rich blood into every fiber of his being. He is a God man, dealing in the affairs of human need and hope—forever planning toward "endless good."

No wonder that we are inspired when we come in contact with such a human being. No wonder he is poised. No wonder that he triumphs against all adversity.

I find a great deal of joy in studying life and the sayings of Michael de Montaigne. He wrote that fine examples of character about him were very rare, so he studied the bad examples and tried to greatly improve upon them! He wrote about his most intimate thoughts—and then said that he sent his friends to the bookseller to search them out, rather than tell them to his intimates. He had poise—and he triumphed by revealing the best that he felt in what he wrote.

Perhaps that is why these talks are written. As one human being to another. How calm and happy we feel, at any rate—with a friend—seen or unseen!

EMPIRE FOR A LADY

By ALAN LEMAY

Synopsis: A boil-up of savage Dyak tribes make the tropical waters of Balingong bay an unhealthy spot. Our trading vessel, the Linkang, is strongly fortified, but the Forresters' Avon is defenseless. It is a strange place to find an English girl of 20, and my uncle, James Clyde, is trying to persuade Christine, and her brother Robert, to leave. But they insist on remaining to "trade for pearls."

Chapter Two

"We Know What We're Doing!"
Robert Forrester stirred restlessly.
"I assure you we quite know what we are doing," he said. "I point out to you that my father undoubtedly knew more about the native peoples of these islands than anyone else who has recently lived.
If you will be generous, Captain Clyde, I believe you will admit that we have reason to know something about what we are doing."

"I knew your father," said Clyde shortly.
This was true, but it was unfortunate that his tone indicated clearly that he had not thought much of the man. Anthony Forrester, late owner of the Avon, had been a retired civil officer of the British East India company. Upon his retirement he proved to have a sufficient fortune to devote himself exclusively to what must have been a completely insatiable curiosity. His passion was the Malay archipelago. The last years of his life, three-quarters crooked by fever and jaundice, had apparently been spent in frantically charting bits of unknown waters, drawing little pictures of fishes, and tabulating fragments of 20 island languages. Clyde considered him a putterer, and hence inexcusable.

Even Forrester's little vessel, the yaw rigged Avon, Clyde held in contempt, because she wasn't big enough to carry any real cargo.

Anthony Forrester had died at the end of the last rainy season, no more than two months before. A couple of his older offspring were somewhere in England, but these two, Christine and Robert, had pre-sentedly cleared the Avon from Singapore, expressly for Bristol. This much we knew as everyone in Asiatic waters always knew uncomfortably much about every one else.

By this time the Avon should have been beating about somewhere off the Cape of Good Hope. She had no business here in the bay of Balinggong, raising pure hell with James Clyde's very commercial plans.

"It seems to me," Clyde said now,
"that you should have learned from your father a little something about what can happen in a place like this.
Can't you hear those gongs and drums? Don't those gongs and drums tell you that you know the war beat when you hear it?"

"Of course," Robert Forrester said, his tone reasonable. "I've known about these things all my life. It's a good many years since they were able to keep me awake."

Without Sanection
"And so," he said at last, "you mean just to sit here, until you're caught."

"Granted that the Rajah Mantusen seems to be in difficulties with the Dyak tribes," Robert Forrester said exasperatingly, "I submit that people who go in for island trading must accept certain risks; especially in the lower archipelago. We're here on perfectly legitimate business, you know, and I see no reason—"

"I know nothing of the sort," Clyde said, his temper getting away from him. "I happen to know more about you than you think. In the first place you cleared Singapore for Bristol, and the fact that you're down here where you don't belong has no sanction whatever from your government, nor from the Dutch, either. In the second place, you know and I know that there's only one form of goods you could trade with Mantusen. You're thumbing your nose at whatever law there is in these waters, and you know it!"

Forrester flushed a little and there was a very uncomfortable pause.

Will Christine understand the risk she is running, tomorrow?

GERMAN TEXTILES

MUST BE 100% ARYAN
Berlin (AP)—The German economics ministry, fostering a "new German culture in dressing," has declared Jews unfit to collaborate with Aryan tailors, dress-makers and designers.

A decree was issued by the ministry forbidding Jews to open new wholesale or retail textile shops in Berlin, sales center of the Reich's textile industry. The ban applies to Aryans also till the end of 1938, when new shops may be opened by them.
The decree, however, emphasizes that applications by Jews will be rejected on principle.

NEW PROBLEMS DISCOVERED IN RELIEF SETUP

Harrisburg, Jan. 17 (AP). — New problems presented themselves to agencies handling relief under Pennsylvania's new set-up today while a legal test of the 1937 relief law progresses through the courts.

Worry over how the system of dividing responsibility between the county commissioners and the county board of assistance would work, was expressed by Judge Richard W. Iobst, of Lehigh county.

"I'm very much concerned as to how this new set-up will work out," he commented in instructing the grand jury to make a "thorough inspection" of the county home.

"The poor board had the relief proposition very, very well in hand.
How that will work out with this state agency I hesitate to predict."

The jury later found a "dire need" for additional employees at the home.

Assumption of the abolished poor board's debts caused financial worries for the Fayette county commissioners. Commissioner John W.
Rankin said they were "stunned" to receive the board's bills for $20,000 for December operating expenses of the home and to learn that $51,000
the board borrowed from the county in 1928 never was repaid, and that the home owed $12,000 to other county institutions.

"It looks like we're going to have to go into debt to get things straightened out before we can institute a smooth-working program," Rankin said.

Refusal of a bank in Lackawanna county to cash checks made out by the Blakely poor district — one of those attacking the act which abolished poor boards—and presented for payment after January 1, raised the question whether the board's funds became the county's.

The Lackawanna commissioners also studied questions raised in connection with administration of medical care.

In Berks county, efforts were made to speed payment of rents by the state to prevent evictions.

NOVELIST GIVES CAT ITS SECOND LIFE

Washington (AP)—Mrs. Janet Dietrick, novelist, grabbed a midnight train from New York and sat up all the way to Washington after hearing her pet cat Sonny was going to die.

Sonny had been given up by two veterinarians but Mrs. Dietrick rolled up her sleeves, operated at 6:00 A. M. and saved the cat's life.

Mrs. Dietrick has written about cats in novels and stories. Now she says "I'm thinking of entering the veterinary college and becoming the first cat specialist in the profession."

Just Folks

by
EDGAR A. GUEST

AFTER A BRIDGE GAME
Time was I heard my father say:
"At cards with strangers never play!
Of men on ships and trains beware!
They'll strip your precious wallet bare!"

So sage his counsel then appeared,
To that advice I've long adhered.
But who'd have thought I'd see the day
It isn't safe with friends to play?

Last night almost against my will
The table I agreed to fill.
I made a bid, our rivals set,
The lady hates me for it, yet!

I raised her one heart bid to "four."
She doesn't like me any more.
I trumped the act of spades she led.
If speech could kill, I'd now be dead.

Into a fearful rage she flew,
Because I passed her bid of "two."
I'm sure, because a trick I missed,
She dropped us off her calling list.

And so, my son, I say to you,
Beware of bridge your whole life through;
Strangers may take what's in your purse,
But friends will treat you even worse.

SAD PICTURE

He painted on a canvas square
The agony of pain.
And left that look of torture there
Forever to remain.

There is the fever flush, and there
The drawn and yellowed skin.
There hands are symbols of despair.
So white they are and thin.

"A masterpiece!" the critics say.
"A work of wondrous skill!"
'Tis art to paint in such a way
A child so very ill."

And yet immortalizing pain
Seems such a sorry thing.
I should have waited till again
Those cheeks were blossoming.

Though suffering is of life a part,
For just a little while
I should have waited till my art
Could paint her lovely smile.

Herrin, Ill.—Monroe Colyer, 97, came from Whitesville, Kentucky,
to spend the winter with his son,
Lee, 75, but Lee took him home again. "Dad got homesick," the son explained.

TOPSY-TURVY

Woodburn, Ind.—Even the surgeons were turned around when they finished operating on Evans
Roberts, 20, and Dee Coles, 21.
After a long search they found Roberts' appendix on the left—instead of the right side of his body near the spleen. When surgeons discovered Coles' appendix on the left side, too, they explored further and found his heart on the right side. All other internal organs were misplaced.

REBATES

Santa Fe, N. M. — State police of the delivery trucks." El Paso (Texas) police wrote them a blond youth had been holding up trucks but "invariably asks the driver how much of the money belongs to him and returns it."

WINTER PROBLEM

Chicago — Three brothers, Walter, Michael and Frank Naggo, who live on Wood street, set out in their truck to get wood to heat their flat. But they weren't particular where they did their chopping. Police found them in a va-for kindling.

Businessmen say: IT'S GOOD BUSINESS TO BORROW!

Reckless borrowing has no place in business, but when an intelligently managed business with good credit borrows funds for legitimate purposes and sound expansion, there is a definite benefit not only to the borrower
but to the entire community as well.
That's when businessmen say, "It's good business to borrow."

And under those conditions, it's good business to make loans. This bank has funds which is desires to put to work locally for the benefit of the community. Level headed businessmen are invited to discuss with us their loan requirements. They can count upon our co-operation in extending credit for the development of

Fasting Dean Kept at Home by Wife's Illness
Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 19 (AP)—Prevented from attending the state diocesan convention of the Episcopal church at Knoxville by the sudden illness of his wife, the fasting Dean Israel Harding Noe expressed hope today that her condition would permit him to attend Thursday's session.
Mrs. Noe fainted at the deanery Tuesday night only a few minutes before the clergyman planned to depart.
A doctor said the strain of the last few weeks had been too much.

State gasoline taxes in 1937 yielded the Texas public school fund $10,296,463, the highway construction and maintenance fund $20,592,927 and the county and road district indebtedness fund $10,296,463.

URGES TAX-FREE GASOLINE FOR USE OF FARMERS
Harrisburg, Jan. 19 (AP)—Two men prominently mentioned in Pennsylvania's 1938 political campaign gave the Threshermen and Farmers' protective association today food for pre-election thought.
From the same platform Tuesday night, guests at the annual banquet—rich in political tradition—heard: United States Senator James J. Davis, Pennsylvania Republican, often mentioned as a candidate to succeed himself, or for the governorship. His term will expire in 1939.
Attorney George Charles J. Margiotti, who ran as a Republican for Governor in the 1934 primaries, then pitched in to elect New Deal George H. Earle, and became attorney general. He is mentioned as a likely candidate for Governor.
The senior Pennsylvania Senator declared that "party politics and party names mean less today than at any time in my experience," and added with emphasis:
"People of all political faiths should join in ending labor baiting, business baiting and court baiting."
Davis declared the country needs more "home rule and more civil service."
Margiotti struck at what he called "the crushing burden of taxes which the Pennsylvania farmer is now required to pay," and suggested this program:
1. Payment of all school teachers' salaries by the state.
2. Exemption of payment of the gasoline tax by farmers who use gasoline only for farm purposes.
He declared the next Legislature should make a definite move to relieve the "burden," and added:
"I hope to be with you in the fight in the future, as always."
The attorney general said that the owner of farm real estate is paying 30 times as much taxes for local government as the holder of stocks, bonds and other securities.
He suggested that the money to operate Pennsylvania schools could be raised by a redistribution of taxes on the basis of ability to pay.
The threshermen earlier re-elected H. F. Kauffman, of Lancaster county, as president for 1938. Other officers are W. F. Hoyt, of Harrisburg, vice president, and these directors: H. B. Beels, of Clarion; E. H. Lykens, of Martinsburg; C. S. Williams, of Mechanicsburg; Chester C. Jennings, of Baltimore, and Howard L. Berkley and Joshua E. Rutherford, of Harrisburg.

Hollywood
By Robbin Coons
Hollywood—Edward Everett Horton has had a reprieve. His prospective heartbreak has been eased. For a while yet his listening ear will be soothed by the music of hammer and saw.
For Eddie things looked sad for a time there. With increasing apprehension he had been waiting for the final blow of the hammer which would proclaim the end of his most colossal private production, Eddie's Encino estate, his enormous toy and his joy of life, would be finished. There would be no more rooms to add, no more ells to tack on, no more trees to plant, just nothing more to do.
Horton's estate has been in process of construction these many years. Throughout the depression he kept a crew of carpenters busy doing things to it. It is one of the colony's show places—a large rambling affair, furnished and decorated with authentic art objects and authentic reproductions of those he couldn't obtain in the originals. He has no sales resistance.
But within a month the end would have come. There would have been no more putting to do, no more conferences with architects and decorators. The sky was dark and the goose hung low.
Then in the nick of time, galloping on thundering hoofs like a western hero, came an idea.
Telling about it, he lets his enthusiasm crackle through his make-up, and even in the elegant kneecreaches of a "Great Garrick" character he looks the role of modern, inveterate country gentleman.
He found the eight-acre plot adjoining his own available. He bought it. Already he is planning and plotting. First enterprise will be "a most pretentious barn." After that—but with eight acres in which to expand, why worry about the future?
Light-Hearted Ghosts
If Hal Roach missed on previous attempts at Class-A features, "Topper" atones. It puts the former two-reel king in the big time, tossing reason and sanity overboard with a merry ha-ha, a sophisticated giggle, and the most convincing tricks yet seen on the screen. The late Thorne Smith wrote it, and the picture for the first time translates his humor to celluloid, which means that if you believe ghosts should be serious you'd better stay away. Roland Young is tops as "Topper." Constance Bennett and Cary Grant (aided by technical man Roy Seawright) are amusing, and Alan Mowbray is now my favorite butler. Also effectively present are: Billie Burke, Eugene Palette, and Arthur Lake, who is seen again after a long absence. Norman Z. McLeod directed.
Production sideights: The big car, twice wrecked, was not damaged. . . . The "destruction" was painted on, wiped off later. . . . Connie's ghostly shower, previously heralded here, appears for but a flash, sacrificed for length. . . . Was photographed on four different negatives, the bather a girl in black tights. . . . The shot where Connie "zaps herself" out of the scene was done in animated cartoon style. . . . One-time star Jack Mulhall appears briefly.

STEEL STRIKE ENDS
Harrison, N. J., Jan. 19 (AP)—Signalling the settlement of a Committee for Industrial Organization strike, smoke poured again today from the stacks of the sprawling Atha works of the Crucible Steel company of America, after a two-day shutdown. The full force of 1,600 was ordered back on the three shifts today.

IT'S ODD
But It's Science
(By The Associated Press)
Pittsburgh (AP)—One full length garment of rayon for every person in the world could be turned out in three years by the present rayon mills.
That is one illustration of how far science has gone in less than a generation in keeping the "roll" from the door, cited by Dr. E. R. Weidlein, director of Mellon Institute.
Other wolf poisons—a German factory makes soap from fat derived from coal.
Fruit wraps, treated with diphenyl, an American product, deduce rotting of oranges and keep grapes.
Japan is making an oil for airplane motors out of sharks.
Hungary uses its sunflowers in place of imported fish oils to make soap.
Americans are using sound waves to clear the air of smoke and fumes.
"The chemist," says Dr. Weidlein, "buys atoms in the form of cotton, sugar, soybeans, milk or petroleum. He sells them in the form of rayon, synthetic wool, automobile parts, organic acids, glues, plastics, building materials, paints and varnishes."

FROM THE SEA air of French Riviera, Lloyd George, England's war-time premier, gets plenty of zest for strolling, for writing his "League of Nations Memoirs."

STRIKES GROW AS CHAUMPS FORMS CABINET
Paris, Jan. 19 (AP)—New labor disturbances arose today to harass the remodelled government of Radical-Socialist Camille Chautemps, and the premier at once called a conference of his ministers to deal with them.
The labor issue and accompanying fall of the franc forced out Chautemps' previous People's Front cabinet which included Socialist ministers and had Communist support in Parliament.
Eighteen of the 20 ministers in the new cabinet are Radical-Socialist, no Socialists are included, and Communist support apparently will be unnecessary to keep it intact.
Radical-Socialist Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos and Defense Minister Edouard Daladier retain their posts, assuring continuation of France's vast defense program.
Chautemps formed the government Tuesday, the fifth day of the longest French cabinet crisis since the World war, when Socialists in the Chamber of Deputies assured him their parliamentary support.
The cabinet meeting was set for Thursday morning.
The recurring labor disturbances included a demand by Bordeaux municipal employees that the city council increase living allowances. The notice set January 27 as the deadline for completing negotiations before a general strike order.
Paris municipal employees gained increased living allowances by general strike last month, and the rising cost of living attributed to fall on the franc has been the basic cause of the strike wave.

RICE BOWL GAME GOES UNHEEDED
Los Angeles (AP)—Unheralded in all the year-end discussion of "bowl" games was the annual Rice Bowl game, played here. In it a football team from San Francisco's Chinatown defeated Los Angeles Chinese, 13-6.

DANGEROUS
It is dangerous to sell a SUBSTITUTE for 66¢ just to make three or four cents more. Customers are your best assets; lose them and you lose your business. 66¢ is worth three or four times as much as a SUBSTITUTE.

GIVE UP AUTOMOBILE
Philadelphia, Jan. 19 (AP).—If
it's a choice of having an automobile and living in laws, Dr.
Ray H. Abrams, of the University of Pennsylvania's sociology department, would have young couples give up the car. To insure independence,
Doctor Abrams told a mothers'
council Tuesday night, there's no harm in a wife working for the first five years. After that her energies should be centered at home.
Maximum benefit payable under
the Texas unemployment compensation act is $15 a week for 16
weeks in one year.

GIVE UP AUTOMOBILE
Philadelphia, Jan. 19 (AP).—If
it's a choice of having an automobile and living in laws, Dr.
Ray H. Abrams, of the University
of Pennsylvania's sociology department, would have young couples give up the car. To insure independence,
Doctor Abrams told a mothers'
council Tuesday night, there's no
harm in a wife working for the first five years. After that her energies
should be centered at home.
Maximum benefit payable under
the Texas unemployment compensation act is $15 a week for 16

URGES TAX-FREE GASOLINE FOR USE OF FARMERS
Harrisburg, Jan. 19 (AP).—Two men prominently mentioned in Pennsylvania's 1938 political campaign gave the Threshermen and Farmers' protective association today food for pre-election thought.
From the same platform Tuesday night, guests at the annual banquet—rich in political tradition—heard: United States Senator James J. Davis, Pennsylvania Republican, often mentioned as a candidate to succeed himself, or for the governorship. His term will expire in 1939.
Attorney George Charles J. Margiotti, who ran as a Republican for Governor in the 1934 primaries, then pitched in to elect New Deal George H. Earle, and became attorney general. He is mentioned as a likely candidate for Governor.
The senior Pennsylvania Senator declared that "party politics and party names mean less today than at any time in my experience," and added with emphasis:
"People of all political faiths should join in ending labor bailing, business bailing and court bailing."
Davis declared the country needs more "home rule and more civil service."
Margiotti struck at what he called "the crushing burden of taxes which the Pennsylvania farmer is now required to pay," and suggested this program:
1. Payment of all school teachers' salaries by the state.
2. Exemption of payment of the gasoline tax by farmers who use gasoline only for farm purposes.
He declared the next Legislature should make a definite move to relieve the "burden," and added:
"I hope to be with you in the fight in the future, as always."
The attorney general said that the owner of farm real estate is paying 30 times as much taxes for local government as the holder of stocks, bonds and other securities.
He suggested that the money to operate Pennsylvania schools could be raised by a redistribution of taxes on the basis of ability to pay.
The threshermen earlier re-elected H. F. Kauffman, of Lancaster county, as president for 1938. Other officers are W. F. Hovetter, of Harrisburg, vice president, and these directors: H. B. Beels, of Clarion; E. H. Lykens, of Martinsburg; C. S. Williams, of Mechanicsburg; Chester C. Jennings, of Baltimore, and Howard L. Berkley and Joshua E. Rutherford, of Harrisburg.

FROM THE SEA air of French Riviera, Lloyd George, England's war-time premier, gets plenty of zest for strolling, for writing his "League of Nations Memoirs."

Hollywood
By Robbin Coons
Hollywood—Edward Everett Horton has had a reprieve. His prospective heartbreak has been eased. For a while yet his listening ear will be soothed by the music of hammer and saw.
For Eddie things looked sad for a time there. With increasing apprehension he had been waiting for the final blow of the hammer which would proclaim the end of his most colossal private production. Eddie's Encino estate, his enormous toy and his joy of life, would be finished. There would be no more rooms to add, no more ells to tack on, no more trees to plant, just nothing more to do.
Horton's estate has been in process of construction these many years. Throughout the depression he kept a crew of carpenters busy doing things to it. It is one of the colony's show places—a large rambling affair, furnished and decorated with authentic art objects and authentic reproductions of those he couldn't obtain in the originals. He has no sales resistance.
Then He Got An Idea
But within a month the end would have come. There would have been no more putting to do, no more conferences with architects and decorators. The sky was dark and the goose hung low.
Then in the nick of time, galloping on thundering hoofs like a western hero, came an idea.
Telling about it, he lets his enthusiasm crackle through his make-up, and even in the elegant knee-breeches of a "Great Garrick" character he looks the role of modern, inveterate country gentleman.
He found the eight-acre plot adjoining his own available. He bought it. Already he is planning and plotting. First enterprise will be "a most pretentious barn." After that—but with eight acres in which to expand, why worry about the future?
Light-Hearted Ghosts
If Hal Roach missed on previous attempts at Class-A features, "Topper" atones. It puts the former two-reel king in the big time, tossing reason and sanity overboard with a merry ha-ha, a sophisticated giggle, and the most convincing tricks yet seen on the screen. The late Thorne Smith wrote it, and the picture for the first time translates his humor to celluloid, which means that if you believe ghosts should be serious you'd better stay away. Roland Young is tops as "Topper," Constance Bennett and Cary Grant (aided by technical man Roy Seawright) are amusing, and Alan Mowbray is now my favorite butler. Also effectively present are Billie Burke, Eugene Pallette, and Arthur Lake, who is seen again after a long absence. Norman Z. McLeod directed.
Production sidelights: The big car, twice wrecked, was not damaged. . . . The "destruction" was painted on, wiped off later. . . . Connie's ghostly shower, previously heralded here, appears for but a flash, sacrificed for length. . . . Was photographed on four different negatives, the bather a girl in black tights. . . . The shot where Connie "zips herself" out of the scene was done in animated cartoon style. . . . One-time star Jack Mulhall appears briefly.
Receipt in France of the news of Sedan's fall in the Franco-Prussian war of 1870 caused the downfall of Napoleon III and the proclamation of the third French Republic.

Science Will Try to Solve 'Baby' Problem
Shamokin, Pa., Jan. 19 (AP).—Modern science was given the problem today of deciding whether a coal miner's wife bore a son or a daughter.
Trustees of the Shamokin State hospital and state officials, preparing for a conference said they hoped the findings of physicians, fingerprint experts, and other investigators would convince Mrs. Lawrence E. Sanders that the infant girl she cradles in her arms is her own—or discover her real baby.
Mrs. Sanders for a week has claimed that the girl could not be the child she bore in the hospital December 30.
Nurses told her on several occasions, the mother said, that her child was a boy. Not until she left the hospital at the end of 10 days did she learn, she maintained, that the child in her arms was a girl.

STEEL STRIKE ENDS
Harrisburg, N. J., Jan. 19 (AP).—Signalling the settlement of a Committee for Industrial Organization strike, smoke poured again today from the stacks of the sprawling Atha works of the Crucible Steel company of America, after a two-day shutdown. The full force of 1,600 was ordered back on the three shifts today.
IT'S ODD
But It's Science
(By The Associated Press)
Pittsburgh (AP).—One full length garment of rayon for every person in the world could be turned out in three years by the present rayon mills.
That is one illustration of how far science has gone in less than a generation in keeping the "wolf" from the door, cited by Dr. E. R. Weidlein, director of Mellon Institute.
Other wolf poisons—a German factory makes soap from fat derived from coal.
Fruit wraps, treated with diphenyl, an American product, deduce rotting of oranges and keep grapes.
Japan is making an oil for airplane motors out of sharks.
Hungary uses its sunflower in place of imported fish oils to make soap.
Americans are using sound waves to clear the air of smoke and fumes.
"The chemist," says Dr. Weidlein, "buys atoms in the form of cotton, sugar, soybeans, milk or petroleum. He sells them in the form of rayon, synthetic wool, automobile parts, organic acids, glues, plastics, building materials, paints and varnishes."

Fasting Dean Kept at Home by Wife's Illness
Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 19 (AP).—Prevented from attending the state diocesan convention of the Episcopal church at Knoxville by the sudden illness of his wife, the fasting Dean Israel Harding Noe expressed hope today that her condition would permit him to attend Thursday's session.
Mrs. Noe fainted at the deanery Tuesday night only a few minutes before the clergyman planned to depart.
A doctor said the strain of the last few weeks had been too much.
State gasoline taxes in 1937 yielded the Texas public school fund $10,296,463, the highway construction and maintenance fund $20,592,927 and the county and road district indebtedness fund $10,296,463.

STRIKES GROW AS CHAUTEMPS FORMS CABINET
Paris, Jan. 19 (AP).—New labor disturbances arose today to harass the remodelled government of Radical-Socialist Camille Chautemps, and the premier at once called a conference of his ministers to deal with them.
The labor issue and accompanying fall of the franc forced out Chautemps' previous People's Front cabinet which included Socialist ministers and had Communist support in Parliament.
Eighteen of the 20 ministers in the new cabinet are Radical-Socialist, no Socialists are included, and Communist support apparently will be unnecessary to keep it intact.
Radical-Socialist Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos and Defense Minister Edouard Daladier retain their posts, assuring continuation of France's vast defense program.
Chautemps formed the government Tuesday, the fifth day of the longest French cabinet crisis since the World War, when Socialists in the Chamber of Deputies assured him their parliamentary support.
The cabinet meeting was set for Thursday morning.
The recurring labor disturbances included a demand by Bordeaux municipal employees that the city council increase living allowances. The notice set January 27 as the deadline for completing negotiations before a general strike order.
Paris municipal employees gained increased living allowances by general strike last month, and the rising cost of living attributed to fall on the franc has been the basic cause of the strike wave.

RICE BOWL GAME GOES UNHEEDED
Los Angeles (AP).—Unheralded in all the year-end discussion of "bowl" games was the annual Rice Bowl game, played here. In it a football team from San Francisco's Chinatown defeated Los Angeles Chinese, 13-6.

DANGEROUS
It is dangerous to sell a SUBSTITUTE for 666 just to make three or four cents more. Customers are your best assets; lose them and you lose your business. 666 is worth three or four times as much as a SUBSTITUTE.
